NEWS AND COMMENT.

JOHNSTOWN is repeating itself out West.

MACON, GA., has made the munificent subscription of $30,000 to the fund for the benefit of the widow of JEFFERSON DAVIS.

THE winter is now over, and in this part of the country there has actually not been enough severe weather to cool a church festival plate of oyster soup—till spring came.

THERE is one thing that can be said in praise of the present administration: it endeavors to carry out the wishes of the people. The disposal of the surplus in the Treasury has been giving the whole nation much anxiety, and by the time HARRISON'S crew go out there won't be enough surplus left to make it worth the janitor's while to lock the Treasury doors.

NEW England's prolix old granny, Senator BLAIR, of New Hampshire, has recently been applying the thumb-screws of torture to such of his colleagues as circumstances forced to listen to him. Words flow from the lips of the erratic old political hack as freely as perspiration from a darkey in a Fourth of July procession, but his diatribes have about as much originality and force as the school-boy's composition On Thinking: "Thinking is one of the greatest things that man ever thunk upon."

THE Durham Daily Globe, redivivius, has been received, and is as handsome, typographically, with as excellent furnishing of good, well-digested editorial work, as when in the hands of the versatile OLDHAM. It is now published by Mr. T. B. ELDRIDGE, late of the Lexington Dispatch, who has associated with him Mr. R. E. CARR, well-known in this city as a young man of talent. The Globe will deserve well of Durham, and the business men and property-owners of that place should see to it that this daily becomes a fixture.

WHAT a "bonanza" the Republican party has proved to be to the negro in North Carolina! The Federal patronage in this State amounts to $320,000 annually, of which only $4,000 are distributed among the faithful colored adherents of Radicalism. In one district the salaries aggregate $76,000, and of this large sum one negro assistant clerk is so fortunate as to receive $900. But they do the voting. Of 115,878 votes cast by North Carolina for GARFIELD in 1880, the negroes contributed 93,472 ballots, and 102,466 of the total 134,784 votes given to HARRISON in 1888. In other words, at the polls they muster 80 per cent. of the strength of the party, but their showing at the "flesh-pots" is only 14 per cent.

LOUIS KOSSUTH, the Hungarian patriot, breaks the silence of a retirement of many years with the dire prophecy of a general devastating European war. The pessimism of the venerable exile is not without warrant: the hoarse murmurs of parturition have not yet commenced, but the clouds are heavy with menacing portents of strife; the masses of the Old World are rapidly republicanizing; the awakening of a desire for freedom is thrilling the pulses of the populace of Spain and Portugal—and through it all Germany, in the plenitude of power, dreams of greater aggrandizement, while Russia, distracted between nihilism and despotism, may at any moment take the step, born of desperation, which will set Europe's millions of armed men in motion.

THE State capital newspapers are bestirring themselves, while new candidates for journalistic fame and emoluments are about to enter the field. Hon. J. T. JERNIGAN, it is announced, will soon commence in Raleigh the publication of a Democratic weekly; Mr. JOSEPHUS DANIEL has purchased the Evening Call, to continue it as a morning daily; and Capt. S. A. ASHE is to put the News and Observer in a handsome new dress. This, North Carolina's most prominent paper, certainly needs a suit of clothes: it goes slouching about all over the State in a seedy, slovenly make-up that is almost disreputable, reminding us of a gifted friend of former years, who used to say "in his cups" (when he was especially brilliant and witty): "I know I'm not pretty and I'm not rich; but then, you see, I'm so d——d smart!"

WE learn that one day last week more than $100,000 in real estate changed hands in Greensboro. This, with the recent organization of more than one important industry, gives gratifying evidence of the material progress of that beautiful city. We cannot claim to know Greensboro thoroughly, but it has been our good fortune to see something of the place and its people, and we know naught but good of them. If we might venture to tender advice to those for whom we entertain such hearty good will and sincere friendship, it would be that the citizens of the "City of Flowers" now leaven their conservatism with the electric current of an abounding faith in the brightness of its future. Its golden opportunity comes to every community, as to individuals, once in its lifetime—and, in our judgment, that opportunity is now at Greensboro's threshold, with "nods, and becks, and wreathed smiles," pointing it onward.

LATEST NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

NEW PASSENGER DEPOT OF THE CAPE FEAR & YADKIN VALLEY RAILWAY AT FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

Constructed for the Company by Capt. A. B. Williams and Mr. T. A. Klutz, Contractors.

This tasteful and commodious edifice is built of the brick manufactured by Mr. E. A. Poe, so largely used and universally commended throughout the State, painted dark red, with ornate roof, and in architectural design, exterior finish and interior arrangement is a model of beauty, completeness and convenience. It has a front of 100 feet, supplemented by platform 192 feet in length, covered throughout—an effectual shelter for the passenger in the most inclement weather. There are separate waiting-rooms for white and colored passengers, furnished with closets and lavatories, very handsome settees, easy-chairs and rockers, and heated with stoves of improved pattern, and having convenient covered exits to the hacks and omnibuses in the rear. The ticket-office, splendidly lighted, occupies the centre of the building, with the company's telegraph office and the baggage-room on the west and east ends. The second floor is given up to the offices of the road, with good pitch and excellent ventilation. On the east and west wings are the rooms of the clerical force of the General Freight and Passenger Agent and Auditor, in the north centre are the offices of the General Superintendent and General Freight and Passenger Agent, and in the south centre the offices of the Auditor and Treasurer, with vault between them. The attic offers ample room for the storage of books, papers, etc. The wainscoting and stairways are of beautifully polished pine, and the depot is to be lighted throughout with gas, with a handsome equipment of fixtures.

Theodere Parker in Baltimorean.]

Men and women, especially young people, do not know that it takes years to marry completely two hearts, even allowing no sudden change. We slope very gradually from the cradle to the summit of life. Marriage is gradual, a fraction of us at a time. A happy wedlock is a long falling in love. I know young persons think love only belongs to brown hair and plump, crimson cheeks. So it does from its beginning, just as Mt. Washington begins at the station. But the golden marriage is a part of love which the bridal day knows nothing of. Youth is the tassel and silken flower of love, age is the full, ripe corn, ripe and solid in the ear. Beautiful is the morning of love, with its prophetic crimson, violet purple and gold, with hopes of days that are to come. Beautiful also is the evening of love, with its golden remembrances, and its rainbow side turned toward heaven as well as earth. Young people marry their opposites in temper and general character, and such a marriage is commonly a good match. They do it instinctively. The young man does not say, "My black eyes require to wed with blue, and my over-vehemence requires to be a little modified with somewhat of dullness and reserve." When opposites come together to be wed they do not know it, but each thinks the other just like him or herself. Old people never marry their opposites; they marry their similars, and from the calculation each of these two arrangements is very proper. In their long journey these young opposites will fall out of the way a great many times, and both get away from the road; but each will charm the other back again, and by and by they will be agreed as to the place they will go to and the road they will go by, and become reconciled. The man will be nobler and larger for being associated with so much humanity unlike himself; and she will be a nobler women for having manhood beside her that seeks to correct her deficiencies and supply her with what she lacks, if the diversity be not too great, and there be real piety and love in their hearts to begin with. The old bridegroom having a shorter journey to make must associate himself fittingly. A perfect and complete marriage is perhaps as rare as personal beauty. A real marriage of love and judgment, between a noble man and woman, is one of the things so very handsome that if the sun were, as the Greek poets fabled, a god, he might stop the world in order to feast his eyes with such a spectacle.

A Moore County Man in Trouble.

WAYCROSS, GA., Feb'y 15.—[Special.]—Reliable information has reached here that F. D. Kirkland, agent for the Savannah, Florida & Western Railroad, at Argyle, was shot and instantly killed by D. F. McDuffie.

Some time ago a consignment of merchandise, amounting to about four hundred dollars, was received C. O. D., at Argyle, for McDuffie & Company, and was delivered by Mr. Kirkland without payment from McDuffie. The matter stood that way until claim was made on Kirkland by the shippers for the amount. Kirkland had become responsible for the amount, and called on McDuffie for payment. McDuffie became insulted, and abused Kirkland severely.

Later in the day, brooding over the affair, McDuffie armed himself with a 38-calibre pistol, and went down to where Kirkland was, and demanded an apology, which Kirkland told him he would not make. Hot words passed between the two, when McDuffie, being enraged, drew his pistol and shot Kirkland in the neck, breaking the spinal cord, and death ensued immediately. McDuffie was arrested, and is now closely guarded.—Atlanta Constitution.

McDuffie is said to be a native of Moore county, and before going to Georgia lived at Winder.

A curious dwarf Japanese tree, brought from the Paris Exposition, was exhibited at a recent meeting of the Royal Botanic Society in London. The specimen was only two feet high, and said to be about 130 years old.

"They say all good Americans go to Paris when they die."

"Yes, all except the messenger boys."

"Where do they go?"

"To Philadelphia."

How Colonel Tarleton Failed to Capture Thomas Jefferson.

In 1781 Lord Cornwallis sought to capture the Governor (Thomas Jefferson) and the legislature of Virginia, sitting at Richmond, and afterwards at Charlottesville, to which town they hastily adjourned to avoid arrest. Failing at Richmond, Colonel Tarleton, in command of the expedition, with a force of cavalry and infantry, pursued, but succeeded, as history states, in capturing only "some members of the assembly," evidently not more than two or three.

There is a tradition that Tarleton's failure arose from his fondness for fried chicken. It is related that he stopped at Dr. Joseph Walker's plantation, some 20 miles from Charlottesville, for breakfast, when a messenger was sent in hot haste to warn of their approach. Rations were distributed to the men, and the family cook made haste to get up a real Virginia meal for the Colonel and his staff. Twice she pepared a delicious dish of fried chicken, and both times, when her back was turned, some one of the hungry soldiers dashed into the kitchen and carried it off.

Tarleton was angry at the delay, but was told that what there was of the meal could be served at once if he desired, but that if he wished to have chicken he must set a corporal's guard to protect the cook. This he ordered done. The guard was set, the chickens were cooked and eaten, but the delay enabled the messenger to reach Charlottesville and give the alarm in time.

Coal Fields of Town Fork.

Winston Daily.]

It is learned that a new company has been organized with a view of developing the coal fields at Town Fork. We trust that this rumor is correct, for if we must judge anything from what we can learn from careful inquiries, there are rich deposits of coal at these mines.

The coal deposit is immense. Its length is about 30 miles and width about 5 miles, depth of coal vein from 8 to 12 feet. The vein extends from Walnut Cove to Leaksville, and is surely worth working.

While none of the deposits that have as yet been tested would be suitable to make coke, yet for heating furnaces, for use on engines and for ordinary purposes it is excellent. The small portion of sulphur it contains causes it to give intense heat. Is there idle capital that wants handsome profit for investment? If so, let it seek the coal fields of Town Fork.

Must Be Now.

Old Lady—I'd like to get a pair o' shoes, young man.

Polite Clerk—Yes, ma'am. Something pretty nice, ma'am?

Old Lady—I want 'em good 'n' stout.

Polite Clerk—Yes, ma'am; here's a strong shoe, an excellent, strong shoe. It has been worn a great deal this winter——

Old Lady—Man alive, I don't want no shoe that's been worn this winter nor any other winter; I want a bran' new pair.

You all speak lightly of the man who rides a free horse to death, but you all have the habit. Every one of you imposes on good nature daily. It is so easy to be blind to your own faults while criticising the faults of others.

Speak not of doleful things in time of mirth, nor at the table; speak not of melancholy things, as death and wounds, and if others mention them change, if you can, the discourse. Tell not your dreams but to your intimate friend.

A further step toward the artificial production of the diamond has been made by passing an electric current through carbon electrodes in a cell containing fine white sand and electrodes.

Nellie—I wonder how the expression, "an arm of the sea," originated?

Harry (with a very tender look)—Quite likely somebody noticed that it "hugged the shore."

Cholly—I am practicing on the typewriter every day now.

Molly—I thought there was a remarkable improvement in your courting lately.

Rich Patient—Hadn't you better bleed me, doctor?

Doctor—Well, not until the end of the quarter.

OBSERVER.

Established in 1825 by E. J. Hale, Sr.

Z. W. WHITEHEAD, Editor and Proprietor.
J. H. MYROVER, Associate Editor.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 6, 1890.

AN EXAMPLE TO BE EMULATED.

A friend and reader of the OBSERVER—one of the stanchest and bravest of Southern men—sends us a copy of the Athens (Ga.) Banner, by which it is seen that the people of the "Empire State" of the South have resorted to a very effectual method of punishing Postmaster-General Wannamaker—by making a yawning hiatus in his pocket.

Wannamaker, in defiance of decency and in disregard of the earnest protests of all the best people of that community, procured the appointment to the postmastership of Athens of Matt Davis, a man of notoriously bad character, obnoxious to all persons of respectability, and incompetent as well. The Banner has organized a systematic boycott against the business house of Hood, Bonbright & Co. (Wannamaker's "Cheap John" establishment), which, extending beyond the limits of that indignant city, has been caught up and responded to all over Georgia, even carrying its influence clear over into Florida. A special from Valdosta, Ga., says:

The Athens Banner's boycott against Postmaster General Wannamaker is sweeping over the South like a tidal wave, and Valdosta is hand and heart with Editor Gantt in his valiant fight for democracy and white man's supremacy. A few days since Mr. Manning, a drummer for Hood, Bonbright & Co., (Wannamaker's house) visited our city. This firm had been selling largely to our merchants, but they refused to even let Mr. Manning show his goods, and told him they would pay two prices before patronizing a slanderer of the South, and a man who has fastened a negro postmaster on a Southern city. Our merchants are determined in this fight, and enlisted for the war.

Valdosta is not alone in her boycott, for news received from every city and town in South Georgia is that the Wannamaker boycott is on in full force. Even Florida has fallen into line, and a gentleman who has recently traveled over the State tells me that the Athens Banner's boycott on Wannamaker is the battle cry in the "Land of Flowers." His drummers are given the cold shoulder wherever they go, and are not making traveling expenses. This boycott came in the nick of time, for it struck Wannamaker's house just when merchants began to order spring goods. He will lose more in Georgia and Florida alone than his contribution to the Republican campaign corruption fund amounted to.

No other treatment meets this case, for in no other way is it possible to pierce the pachydermatous hide of a man who daily prostitutes his exalted position to the outraging of Southern sentiment and the aggrandizement of his own ends. His whole code of ethics is embraced in Iago's injunction: "Put money in your purse." Let Southern people cease stuffing his mail bags and lading the express cars with their innumerable orders for his Yankee "shoddy" goods, and then will come upon Wannamaker such a depth of humiliation and distress as he never before imagined.

THE NEW BERNE FAIR.

The editor is abroad. Col. Jno. D. Cameron, of the Asheville Citizen, has swooped down from the "Land of the Sky" to the sniff of the salt sea, the stretch of marsh, and sound, and shiny beach; and, with the delicious flavor, doubtless, of oyster and turtle still titillating a palate not unused to the "gifts the gods provide," addresses himself to a description of the fish department of the New Berne Fair. Certainly the North Carolina coast offers as yet almost untouched wealth in its fishing-grounds and oyster-beds, for the following exhibit, taken from Col. Cameron's letter to his paper, is remarkable:

Entering the main door, I was introduced at once to the fish, most of them fresh from the water, laid side by side on broad inclined shelves, thickly covered with broken ice, and ready for inspection. Perhaps my first impression was a little disappointing; I expected too much. But examination proved that I was a little unreasonable, for I found them all but the whale—the skeleton of one of which, however, was lying outside. But there were all the table fish of the season found on our coast: the shad, the herring, the Spanish mackerel, the drum, the sea trout, the sheepshead, the pompano, the sturgeon, the flounder, the jack, the chub, the perch, the eel of fresh water, while from the waters of the gulf had been brought the rosy red snapper; also the grouper was found, while more northern waters had contributed the cod and the salmon. There were lobsters and crabs, and among shell fish were the finest oysters almost ever seen, taken in our waters, some from planted, others from natural beds; there were also clams and scallops in abundance. The fish display was large and various enough for a profitable object lesson, and could not well have been larger, since from the perishable character of the subject the supply has to be renewed every day.

The game included half a dozen fine deer, kept in large open-air pens, three or four bears, opossums, raccoons, squirrels, and, of birds, eagles, wild geese, brant, ducks in great variety, gulls, owls, hawks, partridges in quantity, all caught in the vicinity of New Berne. In addition to these were stuffed specimens of birds and beasts, giving instructive lessons in the natural history of this section.

DECISION RENDERED IN THE SUIT AGAINST THE FORTY RAILROADS IN N. C.

A decision was rendered by Judge MacRae Tuesday in the celebrated Hodge suit, instituted in 1889, by Dr. W. T. Hodge, of Wake county, against forty railroads in this State, claiming the recovery of $500 from each by reason of the failure of the roads to make annual reports to the State, as required by law. The decision was against Hodge, His Honor holding that "the offence committed was of a public nature—a violation of the police power of the State, and that by the State Constitution and the statute itself providing the penalty—it accrued to the State and not to the common informer."

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. O. J. Spears, of Harnett county, was in town last Tuesday.

We were much pleased to receive a call this week from Rev. J. A. Speight, of the Biblical Recorder.

Mr. W. C. Petty, one of the leading business men of Manly, came down to this city day before yesterday.

Messrs. T. H. Sutton, Geo. M. Rose, N. A. Sinclair and H. McD. Robinson are attending Moore county court.

Miss Sophie McPherson is paying a visit to friends and relatives in Fayetteville, the guest of Mr. I. B. Hawley.

It gave us pleasure to see in town this week Mr. H. R. Hall, of Greensboro, on a short leave of absence from business.

Rev. W. B. Matheny, of the Atlantic Germatuer Co., Atlanta, Ga., was registered at the Hotel LaFayette this week.

Mr. E. G. Styron, whose headquarters are at Thomasville, Ga., during the cotton season, is back among old friends here for a time.

Mr. Morrison W. Divine, of Wilmington, well-known here—and esteemed highly wherever known—made Fayetteville a visit this week.

Miss Calvert, of Baltimore, who has been for some time the guest of her friend, Miss Lilly Rose, on Haymount, returned home on Tuesday last, having won for herself a warm place in the hearts of our people.

Col. Jno. D. Cameron's recent visit to the New Berne fair not only gave the readers of his paper an opportunity of enjoying his delightful letters but it afforded his many friends in Fayetteville the pleasure of again seeing him after many years, as he stopped over here for two or three days on his return to Asheville. Col. Cameron is a charming conversationalist, with a most retentive memory, and has Fayetteville's past half century of history at his tongue's end.

Capt. J. W. Fry, Gen'l Sup't of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, made us a pleasant visit on Tuesday last; he left in his officers' car at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon for Wilmington, and we regret that press of business prevented our acceptance of his cordial invitation to make the ride with him, for one could not have a more affable and agreeable traveling companion. We spent many pleasant hours in the special car last year, while compiling the history of the road, finding "Napoleon" as satisfactory a campaigner—certainly when "decoring with spotless napery" the mahogany (as Caleb Balderston would put it)—as his illustrious prototype of the First Empire.

February Nuptials.

MCKINNON—MCIVER.—On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church in Jonesboro, by Rev. C. Moore, of Laurinburg, Mr. Calvin McKinnon, of Laurinburg, and Miss Ruth McIver, of Jonesboro, were united in marriage.

The church was handsomely decorated. The aisles were spanned by floral arches through which the couple passed to and from the altar. The pulpit was buried under a profusion of flowers and evergreens. In front, springing gracefully from a base of calla lilies, was an evergreen arch from the centre of which was suspended, at an easy artistic angle, an ivy-covered shield bearing a large white "M."

The bride carried a bouquet of white hyacynths and lilies and wore a costume of green silk.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered by Miss Mandie D. Sloan. Ushers were Messrs. J. A. McIver and R. E. McIver.

It will be a long, long time before a church is more tastefully decorated, is filled with a more appreciative audience, witnesses better music or a more impressive ceremony, or holds before its altar a handsomer bridegroom or a lovelier bride.

In addition to the many relatives and friends from the community, there were in attendance Miss Lilly McKinnon, Miss Alice McLaurin, Mr. Will McKinnon and Mr. Dan McDougald, all of Laurinburg, accompanied by whom Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon left on an afternoon train for their home in Laurinburg.

Suicide of Capt. W. H. H. Tyson.

Ore Hill Correspondence Sanford Express.

This community was shocked by the news that Capt. W. H. H. Tyson had committed suicide by blowing out his brains with a gun.

Capt. Tyson was a citizen of Moore county, but had been living with his brother-in-law, James R. Lane, near here for a few months, or since they noticed that his mind was failing him. The family feared he would do as he did, and kept the gun hidden from him, but he found it in their absence from the house. Arrangements were on foot to get him into the Morganton Asylum. He was a gallant soldier and a kind neighbor. His sister, Mrs. Lane, is prostrated with grief. MAX.

Speaker Reed Declines the Invitation.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Just before the shooting affair at the Capitol yesterday Speaker Reed showed to Representative Stewart, of Vermont, a letter which he had addressed to Representative Caruth. Mr. Stewart thought the letter was too good to keep private and gave its contents to several colleagues—through whom, in return, it reached the press, to the discomfiture of the Speaker.

The letter reads as follows:

Dear Mr. Caruth:

I shall not accept the invitation tendered me by the Blue Grass Club. The reason is very simple. I notice that Jay F. Durham is president. Now, Jay F. Durham assured me, during the late disturbance, that if they had me in Kentucky they would kill me. Knowing said Durham to be a journalist, his declarations to me import absolute verity. I do not wish to be killed, especially in Kentucky, where such an event is too common to attract attention. For a good man to die anywhere is, of course, a gain, but I think I can make more by dying later and elsewhere.

Yours truly, T. B. REED.

For the Observer.]

We are shivering and complaining all the time; have plenty of wood, but open houses and cleared land give the breeze full sway, creating such strong draughts that all the heat is driven up the chimneys.

A crowd of fox-hunters are booked for this week here, but the snow has affected them; camping out would be a little "airish" now. The are to bring sixty "dogs along to keep the foxes away."

Mr. Steinhilper and Master Howard arrived last Wednesday. Mr. G. W. Buhman has gone to his home at Jonesboro to recruit; he has not been well for some time. Mr. Geo. Robinson was here last week, looking well and happy.

All the tar and rosin that solemnly surrounded the depot has been "weighed and found wanted" by Mr. A. H. Slocomb and his able assistant, Mr. Marsh.

Mr. Taylor, from Little River Academy, and his brother, Mr. Stewart Taylor, on the qui vive for a freeze, passed here, laden with immense overcoats, last Friday.

There are many drummers taking a view of the country lately; don't know what attracts them, unless it is the thousands of feet of lumber; guess they think it is for a prospective town.

Mr. D. Fairley is quite sick; was taken Sunday after service; fear it is la grippe.

Mrs. George Haigh and Miss Sue are here for a few days, with Mrs. C. W. Huske.

There are nice places for fishing out here; water a little too high at present; young folks would enjoy some of the bright days at the river or pond; old folks would too.

BON AMI.

A North Carolina Case Decided.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—In another decision in the case of the State of North Carolina against Temple, on an appeal from a decision of the Circuit Court of the eastern district of North Carolina, in favor of Temple, who brought suit to compel the State to carry into effect a law of 1869 which provides for raising taxes to pay interest on the special tax bonds of the State, the Supreme Court to-day reversed the decision of the court, and remanded the cause with instructions to dismiss the complaint.

The whole question, the opinion holds, is resolved by a recurrence to the general principle that the obligations of a State rest for their performance upon its honor and good faith, unless it consents to be brought into court, or comes itself into court.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT TO THE LATE E. J. LILLY.

Adopted by the Board of Stewards of Hay Street M. E. Church, South, March 3rd, 1890.

Since the last regular meeting of this Board of Stewards our Brother and colaborer, E. J. LILLY, has passed from our midst. For more than fifty years he has been regularly in his place at these meetings, and to-day we miss his face for the first time.

His wise counsels have been heard and heeded many a time in this body; his superior judgment has aided us in solving many a perplexing question which involved the interests of the church we love; his liberality has from year to year helped to provide the means for its material support and advancement; but, above all, his pious and godly example has strengthened and encouraged us, and helped us forward in the discharge of duty. He is gone, but the helpful and strengthening lessons of his life remain.

Resolved, 1st. That while we deplore our loss we rejoice in the hope that he has reached the reward of his noble life, and bow—with faith and confidence in our Father's wisdom and goodness—to this dispensation of his providence.

2nd. That we will follow him as he followed Christ, and emulate his love and zeal for the church of which we have been made officers.

3rd. That we extend our sympathies to his family, and pray God's blessings upon each member of it.

4th. That we desire to leave on record an expression of our appreciation of his liberality while he lived, and of the provision that he made to perpetuate that liberality after death.

5th. That a page in our minutes be dedicated to his memory, and these resolutions spread upon it.

6th. That the Secretary of this Board be directed to furnish a copy of these resolutions to the town paper, the Raleigh Christian Advocate and Nashville Advocate for publication, and also a copy to the family.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY WILL CURE CANCER IN ITS EARLY STAGES.

RIDGWOOD, N. C., May 2, 1887.

MRS. JOE PERSON—Dear Madam:—Most gladly do I give you my name to place before the public, bearing testimony to the miraculous cure effected on me by your most valuable Remedy. Fifteen years ago I was troubled by what seemed to be little scales appearing on the right side of my cheek, under the eye, resembling dry meal bran, which I could remove when I shaved, but they would return again in a short time. Soon an enlargement appeared under the same eye, attended with itching and burning sensations, and sharp, darting pains from the affected place to the eye, causing great difficulty in closing the eye, even to sleep. Sometimes it would feel better, but never at any time disappear. Some physicians pronounced it eczema, others chronic erysipelas, and all advised me to let it alone. This I did until two years ago, when a little scab began to form right under the eye, resembling a wart, which I could not remove; in size and appearance it soon grew to be as large as a strawberry, and the scabs came off and left the place entirely raw. Having fear of a cancer, I began to use various kinds of salves to heal it up, but never could. I consulted with physicians of great experience; they said it look'd suspicious of it, and advised me to have it cut or burnt out at once. I did not wish to do either; and being persuaded it was in my blood, I resolved to try your Remedy, as it had been recommended to me. I did so with the most happy results. I can say I am a well man. I cannot say too much for your Remedy; it is worth its weight in gold. Before I had used one bottle I was hopeful, and at the expiration of five weeks the sore was entirely healed, the scales or roughness of the skin all gone, and left me a new man. I will give any one similarly affected any further information they may desire, and can only say, if the public will give your Remedy a trial, it will speak for itself, and your success will know no bounds. God speed the day that must dawn upon your future prosperity!

Yours most truly,
JAS. CARTER ARRINGTON.

My Remedy is now put in plain, round, pint packing bottles, no name blown. The carton holding bottle is now printed altogether in black ink instead of black and red as heretofore; my signature on each label is now written with pen and ink, instead of lithographed as formerly. Every label and carton numbered, as in physicians' prescriptions. The Wash packages are printed altogether in black ink and numbered. Persons buying the Remedy should see that the new style is furnished them, as I cannot guarantee any other to be genuine. MRS. JOE PERSON,
Kittrell, N. C.

Merit Wins.

We deire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. B. E. Sedberry, Druggist.

The Cold "Snap."

Though we have learned little definite, we fear that the cold weather with which March was ushered in has done much damage to fruit and early vegetables, the latter being, of course, unusually forward. Hon. W. J. Green tells us he has several acres in Pfeifer and La Conte pears, the total crop of which, to all appearances, is lost. Mr. Evans, of Sherwood, informs us that in his section the peach trees are all pretty well dead, with no fruit for the cold to kill. The same thing is noticeable in the suburbs of town.

Severe Storm.

The Piedmont section was visited by a very severe storm last Thursday. At Greensboro the rain-fall was the heaviest known for many years—greater even than that of September, 1888, though the area of storm was contracted. At Oxford a singular meteorological phenomenon caused general alarm: all day a lowering cloud of menacing aspect, dark yellowish green in appearance, hovered over the place, seemingly so low down as to touch the roof of the court house, and objects could scarcely be distinguished at a distance of ten feet from the eye.

Roseboro.

Mr. Jno. M. Rose, the esteemed Secretary of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, can now behold his youth revived in the lusty growth of his namesake, Roseboro, one of the most thriving and "booming" of all the stations on the eastern extension of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, distant 34 miles from this city—with hotel in contemplation, streets laid off, houses rapidly going up, etc.

What wonderful changes have been witnessed by the old gentleman since he first took in arms and tenderly cherished this "child of his first love!" Springing from the weakness of its puny infancy, it has bounded forward in its vigorous youth, and tossed its limbs in the strength of matured life, challenging with exultant voice the echoes of the Piedmont hills—its race-course the territory of a great commonwealth—brushing with daring hand the clouds from the mountain's brow, while its foot spurns the crested waves of the sea.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, of Wilmington, arrived via the west-bound train on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway last Tuesday, and went out to Tokay, the home of Mrs. Jones's father, Hon. W. J. Green.

Religious Notes.

Very interesting services were enjoyed by the congregation at the Baptist Church last Sunday morning, the occasion being the installation of Messrs. W. B. Malloy and J. T. Winburn as deacons. The sermon was delivered by Rev. J. A. Speight, associate editor of the Biblical Recorder, the text being John, chapter 17, verse 22—an excellent, well-digested discourse. In the installation exercises Rev. W. B. Oliver offered a fervent and moving prayer, after which the impressive charge was made by Mr. Speight.

The "Dispersed Abroad."

Mr. Thos. H. Sutton gives us some gratifying information regarding a Cumberland young man. A few days since he met at Goldsboro Mr. G. T. Adams, son of Mr. W. G. Adams, of the Little River Academy section, who is now principal of the Collegiate Institute at New Berne, one of the most flourishing schools in the State. Mr. Adams's energy and marked ability have increased the pupilage from 40 to 100 in the course of a few months, and the high esteem in which he is held in that part of North Carolina is attested by warm testimonials from some of its most promising citizens.

"Gather the Flowers While Ye May."

Byron begins his "Darkness," we believe, with—

"I had a dream which was not all a dream."

A few nights since, tucked beneath the blankets, and a glimmering, ghastly moon without, Mr. Walter Watson had a dream of a ruthless marander in his flower beds: not content with the stalk but taking away even the bulbs and roots. His vision recurred to him in the morning, and, going into the front yard, he found the beds robbed of all their beautiful hyacinths. A strange dream, but—

"There are more things in heaven and earth
Than are dreamt of in our philosophy, Horatio."

Hettie Bernard Chase.

"The Little Coquette" carried the hearts of her Fayetteville audience by storm last Monday night. Riante, full of verve and chic (if we may be pardoned for borrowing a little of the "Duchess" froth), she was a constant surprise and always charming. Her talents are versatile, her acting fresh and original, and her stage bearing singularly free from mannerism. The comedy is of the raciest, but wholesome withal, and the company support strong throughout. Excellent management characterizes the whole performance; and, take it all in all, it is the most agreeable and satisfactory entertainment that the play-goers of this community have had to digest in a long while.

Fires.

At about 2 o'clock last Friday morning the dwelling in rear of the Catholic Church, and part of the church property, was destroyed. For a time the church was in great danger, and only the most strenuous efforts prevented its burning.

Mrs. McGuire, who resides in the house, was absent that night, and suffered the total loss of all her personal effects. She has our hearty sympathy in her misfortune, as well as that of the whole community, for her generous heart has ever been keenly responsive to suffering and distress, and in former days her purse was not withheld from its alleviation.

The origin of the burning of the building is unaccountable, for no fire had been made since 2 o'clock the day before. We believe there was no insurance.

Mr. Geo. Haigh, formerly editor and proprietor of the OBSERVER, is also a sufferer by fire in the destruction of his residence on Haymount, and he and his wife and daughters have our condolence in the loss of much that, as heirlooms and from association, had become priceless to the family. At about 6 o'clock yesterday morning the alarm of fire was given, and Mr. Edmund O'Hanlon, a neighbor, who was first on the ground, gives information which makes it almost certain that robbery and incendiarism had been at work. The fire seemed to be in the front bedroom; he found a window on the north side of the house open, with two boxes placed below, evidently for ingress; running to the rear, he found the back door open, as were all the other doors when he entered the building.

The dwelling had an insurance, we learn, of $1,000, but there was none on the furniture, at least two-thirds of which was destroyed, including the piano.

Mr. Haigh was absent from town on business, and Mrs. Haigh and daughter were visiting Mrs. C. W. Huske at Manchester.

Commissioners' Court.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved by a full board present at the monthly meeting of the County Commissioners on Monday.

Enoch Royal was relieved of poll-tax for 1888 and '90, and W. G. Ray for 1889.

Alex. Leslie, the superintendent, was directed to supply the inmates of the poor-house with necessary clothing.

The case of Wheeler vs. Downing, in relation to cart-way, came up as an appeal from the decision of the supervisors of Cedar Creek township; the decision of the supervisors was sustained, and the defendant appealed to the Superior Court.

The petition to lay off a public road from Cumberland Mills to Hope Mills was laid over until next meeting.

Frank Blocker was relieved of tax on 230 acres of land in Cedar Creek township, on account of error, and Sheriff Fisher was allowed to correct error in the tax-list of Haywood Williams.

It was ordered that the Register of Deeds have certain volumes of the records in his office re-bound.

Caroline Nickens, D. A. Wallace, Charles McNeill and Sam McKethan were added to the pauper list.

After auditing sundry bills the board, on motion, adjourned.

The Young Men's Christain Association.

The meetings conducted by Mr. L. A. Coulter, in the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, and in the Methodist Church on Sunday night, were largely attended. The discourses delivered by the gifted young speaker were earnest, forcible and received with marked effect. The following were appointed at the business meeting on Friday night, as delegates to the State Convention, to be held at Goldsboro on the 13th inst: Leon Brandt, H. L. Cook, W. D. Gaster, R. L. Holland, J. F. Highsmith, Gordon Jessup, E. J. Kennedy, W. B. Malloy, Rob't McGeachy, J. H. McNeill, A. D. Newberry, J. L. Prior, E. A. Poe, B. C. Parker, R. M. Prior, Q. K. Nimocks, M. A. Rankin, A. S. Rose, Stiles Sedberry, Thos. Whitted, Jno. Weisiger, W. S. Prior, H. McD. Robinson, G. P. McNeill, Revs. C. W. Bird, W. B. Oliver, T. P. Barclay, E. C. Sell, Evangelist W. P. Fife, General Secretary Harley.

"The Thoughtful Man Provideth."

"We brought nothing into this world, and it is very certain that we shall carry nothing out;" but the father, husband, brother or son would fain leave behind some substantial evidence of his watchful care and protecting love after he is done with this world's concerns. Many a man, who has more than once faced death with cheek unpaled, is a very craven in the supreme hour, reflecting that in a moment more the faithful arm will be palsied—wont to be the shelter of those he loved from the "whips and arrows of outrageous fortune."

This thought has been suggested by an examination of the remarkable exhibit in another column of the resources and business of the New York Life Insurance Company. Mr. H. I. McDuffe, the Fayetteville agent, has been very successful in impressing the advantages of his company upon insurers, having written policies away up in the figures in this and adjoining counties—some as high as $15,000 and $20,000—and we know of an instance where a prominent citizen of Wilmington changed for a large amount from another company into the New York Life Insurance Company.

Not on the Market.

An erroneous impression has been produced that the Egypt coal mine was on the market for sale. To the contrary, the company now owning and working it consider the stock among the best of investments, and expect soon to enlarge their operations.

The output of coal is at present from 40 to 50 tons per day—to be increased to 200 tons as soon as the pressure of freights on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley will admit of furnishing cars for its transportation—and the full capacity of the "plant" is 500 tons per day.

A new 80 horse-power steel boiler has been put in, heated up for the first time last week, and forty men are constantly at work on a vein of coal from 4 to 6 feet thick.

The properties of the Egypt Coal Company are likely, too, to prove of great value, independent of the coal deposit. A stratum of black band-iron of considerable dimensions has been found, as well as an excellent quality of brick clay contiguous to the mine. Brown-stone and potter's clay are already being successfully worked.

How Others See Us.

The editor of the Asheville Citizen, evidently found much to please and interest him during a recent visit to this city, from which he gave for publication many entertaining notes of its past history. He writes:

There is a peculiar tenacity or Scotch stubbornness with the people of Fayetteville, which does not permit them to feel whipped. If they do not, like Antæus, rise stronger after each downfall, they are ready to try another bout with fate or fortune. They wooed fortune after each adversity, but seemed to win only misfortune. For a long time they seemed left alone in their misery. The trade of the interior, from which they had so long drawn their stores, was drawn away from them by railroads to the north of them, to the south of them, to the west of them; and they might seem at their wits end. They built a road of their own which, in naval stores, gave them a new business. They churned the waters of their river with the multitude of their steamboats. By energy, sagacity and the moderation of their freight charges they regained much of their lost business. They broke the cordon of isolation. Now they have railroads of their own; they reach to the sea and to the mountains, they stretch out to the east and to the west. They are on the main line of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley road, and at the head of its branch to Bennettsville, S. C., they have the present terminus of the Wilson Short Cut, and will soon have the other end to Florence, and they have all the facilities they need for the present.

Hon. C. W. McClammy Interviewed.

A reporter of the Washington (D. C.) National Democrat recently had an interview with Hon. C. W. McClammy, member of Congress from this district, and gives the views of that Representative upon an important matter to be settled by Congress, as follows:

Major McClammy, of North Carolina, said to the reporter that the steamship subsidy bill would be passed because the administration had indorsed the scheme, but it would require a Republican caucus to bring out the full strength of the majority in support of the bill. "The Republicans," said the Major, "made all kinds of promises to the corporations and trust combines in order to raise money for Dudley's 'Blocks of Five,' and now they want to deliver the goods by rushing through the House legislation in favor of trusts, corporations and other monopolies. There is no class of legislation that I know of more vicious in its tendencies than that of granting subsidies to corporations. It's undemocratic, against the spirit of republican form of government. I will fight the steamship subsidy bill to the best of my ability, but, then, when you take into consideration that the rules of the House give arbitrary powers to the Speaker, you will readily perceive that the Republicans are in a position to pass any measure or measures they may see fit to advance. It seems to me that instead of the surplus left in the Treasury by Cleveland's Administration a deficit will be staring the people in the face ere the end of this Congress unless the Republicans change their policy, and change it mighty quick."

Sunday School Convention.

The State Sunday School Convention, in session at Wilmington last week, was made up of some of the best representative men of all parts of the State, and was characterized by proceedings of unusual interest.

Resolutions complimentary of the Statistical Secretary, Mr. Snow, of Durham, were unanimously passed before the adjournment of the convention, and the body gave him an honorarium of $100 for valued services. The next annual convention is to be held in this city, of whose cordial welcome the delegates may be assured in advance. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Prof. W. A. Blair, of Winsten.

Vice-President—1st District, J. S. Blair; 2nd District, Prof. G. T. Adams, of New Berne; 3rd District, Geo. Chadbourn, of Wilmington; 4th District, Rev. L. J. Holden, of Lincolnton; 5th District, S. M. Parrish, of Raleigh; 6th District, J. H. Southgate, of Durham; 7th District, Rev. E. W. Smith, of Greensboro; 9th District, H. C. Dunn, of Clear Creek; 10th District, R. N. Hackett, of Wilkesboro; 11th District, Gen. R. B. Vance, of Asheville; 12th District, Rev. W. H. Smith, of Franklin.

Recording Secretary—Prof. J. W. Gore, Chapel Hill.

Statistical Secretary—H. N. Snow, Durham.

Treasurer—W. H. Sprunt, Wilmington.

Executive Committee—G. W. Watts, chairman, Durham; N. B. Broughton, Raleigh; E. J. Parrish, Durham; J. S. Carr, Durham; W. H. Reisner, Salisbury; S. A. Kerr, Greensboro; J. S. Lineback, Salem.

State Guard.

Adjutant-General Jas. D. Glenn has issued his complete annual report of the condition, numbers, etc., of the North Carolina State Guard. From its pages we learn that the organization now comprises 1,544 men—an increase of 7 per cent. over the number enrolled last year—distributed as follows:

1st Regiment, 7 companies, 360 men, including field, staff and band.

2nd Regiment, 6 companies, 290 men, including field, staff and band.

3rd Regiment, 7 companies, 322 men, including field, staff and band.

4th Regiment, 8 companies, 398 men, including field, staff and band.

1st Battalion, 2 companies, 105 men, including field, staff and band.

1 unattached company, 38 men.

General staff, 22 men; brigade staff, 9 men.

The Quartermaster-General reports having clothed 4 companies in 1888 and 16 in 1889; by the close of the present fiscal year it is expected that the whole force will be furnished with the regulation full-dress uniform. Speaking of its condition, Gen. Glenn says:

I am very sure that the State Guard is in a better condition than ever before; the men are nearly all uniformed in the State regulation dress, and all will be before the end of next year. Their arms and equipments are in the best condition possible, 25 of the 30 companies have the best regulation overcoats, with which all will be supplied in a short time—and in every way possible the equipment of the force is being perfected, so that at the shortest notice we can parade a well-armed, drilled, uniformed and disciplined force.

Fayetteville as a Railroad Centre.

Our valued correspondent, W. J. G., very pertinently calls attention below to the splendid opportunities now presented to Fayetteville to equip itself as the great railroad centre of North Carolina, with connections and extensions which will make it an important terminal point and entrepot of trade, as well as a distributing depot of travel from every section of the State along the great highways going north, south and west.

Our town is fast becoming the most important railroad centre in the State, and it behooves us to make it so; for railroads make cities, and cities make markets. With rail facilities now completed, it is a recognized fact that we are soon to have a considerable extension, viz., the completion of the C. F. & Y. V. on the south from Bennettsville to Darlington, thus making continuous connection by that line to Charleston, Savannah and all points beyond. The same enterprising line is stretching out on the north from Mt. Airy to Cincinnati, not counting "feeders." It is also understood that the W. & W. are about to strike for Florence or the Pee Dee, some ten miles this side and in connection. This gives what few towns can boast of:—a dual outlet south.

Let us glance at additional possibilities. Surely Fayetteville should be in direct communication with the immediate West, and a direct link to Salisbury would so place her. Inasmuch, however, as charter has been obtained and company organized to construct a road to Albemarle, in Stanly county, evidently with Salisbury as ultimate objective point, in the name of self-interest and common-sense, let it be built.

Another and a most important road to the north of us is now seeking outlet in this direction. The Lynchburg & Durham is looking this way. Where shall it strike?—That's for Fayetteville to say, and she had better think twice before she allows some collateral point to become the terminal. With four arms completed and two extensions virtually opened, these two last would make the old town indisputably the railroad centre of North Carolina. Have we not enough public spirit to make it so?

W. J. G.

Trucking on an Immense Scale.

The increase of our railroad facilities, giving speedy and sure transportation to all the great markets, is turning seriously the attention of thoughtful farmers in this section to the advisability of intensive farming, the raising of market produce, culture of small fruit, &c. They will be interested in a description of operations in the trucking country proper, which we extract from a New Berne letter from Col. Jno. D. Cameron to his paper, the Asheville Citizen:

The principal truckers are Mr. Joe Rhem, one of the largest, if not the largest, Hackburn & Willet, Wm. Dunn, president of the fair, —— Crockett, E. R. Dudley, colored, once a member of the legislature, and a very prosperous farmer, W. H. Bray and Ed. Cox.

The joint area in cultivation is about 6,000 acres, all apparently in one field, for there are no fences, and only divided by one large creek and a few strips of swamps. The soil is a light sandy loam, apparently hopelessly barren, and was in fact so regarded until within the last two or three years. Thorough drainage by ditching has prepared it for the plow, and heavy manuring and good culture have done the rest.

At Hackburn & Willet's a long clay ridge a hundred or two yards in width, protrudes from the level, and on it his houses, barns, stables and dairies are placed. This ridge is covered with fine oaks, hickories and poplars.

* * * * * * *

He has planted for his employes this season four hundred bushels of Irish potatoes from which he expects to dig six thousand barrels. He has now reaching maturity fifty acres in cabbage from which he expects to cut 10,000 heads. He has many acres in peas, we did not ask how many. He has used already $5,000 worth of commercial fertilizers, or from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds per acre. He has a large area in clover and oats, and will follow the example of his neighbor in raising many acres of cucumbers, melons and beans, one of the largest and most profitable crops.

On one of the farms we passed a field of many acres in asparagus. With the exception of the green of the cabbage, the peas and the oats, all this great expanse of truck farm was bare, and its sandy soil suggested barrenness. But the whole aspect will be changed in the general warmth of spring, and then it will present a sight of great beauty, for system and symmetry are features of this flat and light land, and the furrows for a mile are as straight as an arrow.

Significant Figures.

One day last week, choosing at random, we took from the Star Wilmington's daily receipts of naval stores by its railways and river steamers. Of the spirits turpentine, 60 per cent. reached that market over the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway; of the rosin, 46 per cent.; of the tar, 33½ per cent. For a line whose completion dates back less than thirty days the above is, in our judgment, a remarkable exhibit, and strikingly substantiates the claim made for the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, a paragraph germain to which we extract from the illustrated hand-book of the company, edited by J. H. Myrover, and issued from the publishing-house of Messrs. Allen, Lane & Scott, 229, 231 and 233 South 5th street, Philadelphia, Pa., in July of 1889:

A very significant fact in the history of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway it may not be amiss to note before proceeding to a compilation of the descriptive gazette of the mineral, manufacturing and agricultural resources of the different sections of North Carolina which it reaches and renders accessible to the world's markets: no other railway enterprise has interfered with its progress, or lessened the need of its completion. During the past ten years of its present name, directory and management, together with a few years previous thereto, the Western Division of the North Carolina Railroad has been completed, that portion of the Carolina Central which long remained a gap between Wadesboro and Charlotte has been laid, the Salem branch of the Piedmont Air-Line has been built, the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line has made connection with the Carolina Central at Hamlet, the Wilson Short-Cut, a branch of the Atlantic Coast Line, has been finished—and other less important branches, extending into Virginia and South Carolina, have been constructed or are in process of construction. Not one has discredited the wisdom, weakened the importance, or proved an obstacle to the completion of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, which—crossing the chief water-ways of the State, and forming a direct line through some of the finest region of the three geological divisions of North Carolina—bisects it from northwest to southeast, aiming to make final connection by the shortest route with the great railway highway at Cincinnati, and combining finally that most admirable feature of railroading, which reaches out and penetrates the undeveloped back-country, with its own great seaport for an outlet, with all the advantages to hundreds of miles of interior of its shipping, diversified manufactures and commerce. Lastly, it is noteworthy that the increase of business of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway has kept pace with every mile of road built. No station along the line has failed to swell the receipts; no branch has proven unremunerative for the outlay; and the reports at every stockholders' meeting demonstrate a largely augmenting volume of business.

DIED.

CARROLL—In this vicinity, on Tuesday, 25th ult., at 1 o'clock P. M., JAMES CARROLL, aged about 76 years.

BLUE—In Seventy-First township, on January 30th, 1890, of catarrhal fever, OSCAR CLEVELAND, infant son of D. A. and Sallie J. Blue, aged 1 year, 1 month and 11 days.

Alas! how changed, that lovely flower,
Which bloomed and cheered my heart;
Fair fleeting comfort of an hour!
How soon we're called to part!

And shall my bleeding heart arraign
That God whose ways are love,
Or vainly cherish anxious pain
For him who rests above?

No; let me rather humbly pay
Obedience to His will,
And with my inmost spirit say:
"The Lord is righteous still."

From adverse blast, and lowering storm,
His favored soul He bore;
And with yon bright angelic forms,
He lives to die no more.

Why should I vex my heart or fast?
No more he'll visit me;
My soul will mount to him at last,
And there my child I'll see. M. & F.

Town Property for Sale.

BY ORDER OF COURT.

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Cumberland County made at January Term, 1890, in the case of the Bank of Fayetteville vs. D. Jones et al. I will, as commissioner appointed for that purpose, on Monday, the 7th day of April, 1890, at 12 M. at the Market House in Fayetteville, sell to the highest bidder for cash, four tracts of land situated in the northeastern part of Fayetteville, and fully described in a mortgage from D. Jones to R. M. Orrell et al., and recorded in Register's office in Book B, No. 4, page 45, and referred to in the complaint in said action. One of these lots fronts on North street and has a house on it. The other lots lie near it, and one adjoins the residence of Capt. D. Jones. Any information in regard to the property will be given upon application to the undersigned.

WHAT THE CHILDREN DID.

All day, with busy heart and hand,
The patient mother thought and planned,
And strove to do with needed care
A duty here, a duty there:
Yet on her face, about her work,
A covert smile would often lurk—
A mother's smile that came unbid
At something that the children did.

She watched with pride some boyish feat;
She marked her girls and saw them sweet;
She thought the sight was passing fair
Of baby grasping at the air.
The swift retort of childish wit
She heard, and keenly relished it;
And underneath the look that chid
She smiled at what the children did.

When at the weary end of day
The children, soundly sleeping, lay,
The mother by the evening fire
Recalled their pranks to please their sire,
And when the fire was but a spark,
And all the quiet house was dark—
When slumber came with drooping lid,
She dreamed of what the children did!

—Detroit Free Press.

THE BEAUTY OF THE SEASON.

To be the first at ball or hop,
To have bouquets by dozens;
To wake the boyish love of male,
And hate of female, cousins;
To say and do just what you please,
And without "rhyme or reason;"
And yet be pleased—this is to be
The "Beauty of the Season."

You're witching: there's no doubt of that;
Your very smile is winning;
One glance from those bewildering eyes
Sets hearts and heads a-spinning.
But when a suitor comes for life,
You flirt beyond all reason;
And so you'll die an old maid yet,
My "Beauty of the Season."

Why Farmers Fail.

An Iowa farmer in the Homestead gives the following reasons:

First—The markets, or consumers, are too far from producers.

Second—Too high railroad freight rates.

Third—Too high rates of interest on borrowed capital.

Fourth—Too many dogs and wolves in the country and not enough sheep.

Fifth—Too much fashion, too much whiskey and tobacco, and not enough enterprise.

Sixth—Too high lawyer and doctor fees and not enough general intelligence.

Seventh—Too much party in politics and not enough principle.

Eighth—Too much listening to farmers' enemies and too little seeking for common sense for a guide.

Ninth—Business as now conducted gives the farmer no part in making prices. When he sells, the dealer makes the price of his produce; when he buys the merchant names the price he must pay, and both are generally against the farmer.

Grape Rot.

The result last year from the application of the Bordeaux mixture to grape vines, to prevent rot, was very generally successful in saving 80 per cent. of the fruit, and yet a few cases have been noted where the good results did not show themselves. One case is that of a grower at Lutherville, Md., who has a small vineyard of 125 vines, embracing 15 varieties, who suffered an absolute loss of his crop from rot. The disease appeared first about the 26th of May, and was apparently continuous from its incipiency. During the season there was an unusual amount of moisture. Bordeaux mixture was applied three times—May 18, 22 and June 3—without any beneficial result whatever. Such results are very discouraging, but the poor effects of the fungicide were probably due to the unprecedented rains, which washed off the mixture. Those who have had a like experience should try again, for the results have generally been as favorable as in this case they were otherwise.

Too Much Land.

Home and Farm.]

Farms are too large, as a rule. One hundred acres is enough for any farm. This land, well-cultivated, will produce more and better crops than two hundred acres half cultivated. With this land the farmer with one hired man can do all the work except in harvest, when he will need an extra man. He would find time to cut brush along the fences and clean out fence corners, blast and draw off large stones that he has worked over for twenty years or more, pull stumps and get them out of the way of the plow and mowing machine, dig ditches, repair fences so as to keep his cattle on his own land and prevent a lawsuit with his neighbor.

Too Many Together.

Home and Fireside.]

If those who use brooders would be satisfied with a smaller number of chicks together there would be fewer losses. It is a general rule to attempt to keep one hundred chickens in a brooder. That this is done, and successfully, is not denied, but fifty chicks will thrive with less care than one hundred, if the limit is placed on that number. Many failures occur by reason of operatives endeavoring to do too much with facilities. It is much better to hatch fewer chickens, and raise them to a marketable age, than to hatch a larger number and lose the greater part by not providing proper quarters, and not giving them more room in the brooders.

Farmers Won't Believe It.

The farmer upon one hundred acres, says an exchange, who has some acres in wheat, a few in corn, a few in oats, a few in potato roots, and then has liberal pasture and meadow, with four or five acres in apples and as many more in pears, peaches, plums, quinces and cherries, keeping half a dozen cows, and perhaps twenty-five or thirty long-wool grade sheep, will be likely to come out better, taking one year with another, than one who devotes the larger number of his acres to cotton or some other leading crop. If any one crop is a failure, or sells too low to afford any profit, others may yield profit enough to prevent any serious loss.

Making a Hen Set.

There is no known method for compelling the hens to set; but as a hen is usually fat before she begins to set, success has been secured by feeding them well on corn and leaving the eggs in the nest. It is more frequently the desire to break up the setters, yet there are times when the setting hen is in demand, to get out the early broilers for market. Something can be accomplished by feeding them, however, and providing warm quarters, but the safer plan is to procure an incubator, of one hundred eggs capacity, and the control of hatching will no longer be under the will of the hens.

Milking.

Milking is not such very nice work for a woman, but if cows could vote there would be a large majority strongly in favor of women doing the milking. They don't kick about and swear; and, whether you believe it or not, we believe that a decent cow despises a profane man.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

The World Moves!
Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

Meal and Feed

AT THE ACTUAL COST
of the unground material.

We also hold that to endeavor to do a
Hand to Hand Cash Trnasaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.

Respectfully,
